How To Order

Send one message with the models you want priced, the destination country and the quantity you are working to. Datasheets are issued per model and per destination market, because the build can differ between destinations.

Network bands, memory, battery capacity, camera resolution and software version are confirmed on the datasheet for the exact build you would receive. Certification documents held for a model are issued for the destination market on request.

Handsets are assembled, functionally checked and packed into retail boxes in the brand owner's own factories in Shenzhen, China, then loaded into master cartons for export.
