What Each Document Covers

Document	Level	What it answers
Oeko-Tex Standard 100	Product	Tests the textile itself against a defined limit list for harmful substances. Applied across the range including the kids and baby items.
AZO free testing	Substance	Confirms dyestuffs do not release the restricted aromatic amines controlled in the EU and other markets. Evidence sits inside the test report rather than as a separate certificate.
BSCI	Workplace	Social compliance audit of working conditions in the supply chain. Commonly required by group procurement before a first purchase order.
SEDEX	Workplace	Shared ethical audit data that member buyers can access directly for their own file.

Where Quality Is Controlled In Production

Stage	What is checked	Risk it removes
Yarn selection	Yarn count against the approved sample	Hand feel and pile density drifting from what you approved
Lab dip	Physical dyed cotton against your Pantone reference	Colour approved on a screen and rejected in the flesh
Dyeing	AZO free dyestuffs under Oeko-Tex Standard 100	Market access refusal on restricted substances
Weaving	Pattern register and pile height against the sample	A production run that does not match the signed sample
Finishing	Dimensions and absorbency after wash	Shrinkage complaints reaching your customer
Weight check	Finished GSM against the approved specification	Weight drift, the most common silent defect in towel supply
Pre-shipment	Finished goods against the sample and packing list	Problems discovered after the container has sailed

What We Do Not Claim

We do not publish customer names, order values or contract details. We do not publish testimonials we cannot evidence. We do not publish a monthly capacity figure. The sourcing scenario pages on our website are worked examples of order profiles, not records of named client projects.
